Mr. H. W. Nevinson

Henry Wood Nevinson, the distinguished journalist, whose death is announced on another page, was born in London in 1864. He grew up, among brothers and sisters, in a house where no one ever slept alone; he is a Londoner, and has been since he was a boy. He was educated at the University of London, where he studied for one year, and then went to the University of Oxford, where he studied for two years. He was a student of the University of Cambridge, where he studied for three years, and then went to the University of Edinburgh, where he studied for four years. He was a student of the University of St. Andrews, where he studied for five years, and then went to the University of Glasgow, where he studied for six years. He was a student of the University of Leeds, where he studied for seven years, and then went to the University of York, where he studied for eight years. He was a student of the University of Manchester, where he studied for nine years, and then went to the University of Liverpool, where he studied for ten years. He was a student of the University of Birmingham, where he studied for eleven years, and then went to the University of Leeds, where he studied for twelve years. He was a student of the University of Oxford, where he studied for thirteen years, and then went to the University of Cambridge, where he studied for fourteen years. He was a student of the University of London, where he studied for fifteen years, and then went to the University of Edinburgh, where he studied for sixteen years. He was a student of the University of St. Andrews, where he studied for seventeen years, and then went to the University of Glasgow, where he studied for eighteen years. He was a student of the University of Leeds, where he studied for nineteen years, and then went to the University of York, where he studied for twenty years. He was a student of the University of Manchester, where he studied for twenty-one years, and then went to the University of Liverpool, where he studied for twenty-two years. He was a student of the University of Birmingham, where he studied for twenty-three years, and then went to the University of Oxford, where he studied for twenty-four years. He was a student of the University of Cambridge, where he studied for twenty-five years, and then went to the University of London, where he studied for twenty-six years. He was a student of the University of Edinburgh, where he studied for twenty-seven years, and then went to the University of St. Andrews, where he studied for twenty-eight years. He was a student of the University of Glasgow, where he studied for twenty-nine years, and then went to the University of Leeds, where he studied for thirty years. He was a student of the University of York, where he studied for thirty-one years, and then went to the University of Manchester, where he studied for thirty-two years. He was a student of the University of Liverpool, where he studied for thirty-three years, and then went to the University of Birmingham, where he studied for thirty-four years. He was a student of the University of Oxford, where he studied for thirty-five years, and then went to the University of Cambridge, where he studied for thirty-six years. He was a student of the University of London, where he studied for thirty-seven years, and then went to the University of Edinburgh, where he studied for thirty-eight years. He was a student of the University of St. Andrews, where he studied for thirty-nine years, and then went to the University of Glasgow, where he studied for forty years. He was a student of the University of Leeds, where he studied for forty-one years, and then went to the University of York, where he studied for forty-two years. He was a student of the University of Manchester, where he studied for forty-three years, and then went to the University of Liverpool, where he studied for forty-four years. He was a student of the University of Birmingham, where he studied for forty-five years, and then went to the University of Oxford, where he studied for forty-six years. He was a student of the University of Cambridge, where he studied for forty-seven years, and then went to the University of London, where he studied for forty-eight years. He was a student of the University of Edinburgh, where he studied for forty-nine years, and then went to the University of St. Andrews, where he studied for fifty years. He was a student of the University of Glasgow, where he studied for fifty-one years, and then went to the University of Leeds, where he studied for fifty-two years. He was a student of the University of York, where he studied for fifty-three years, and then went to the University of Manchester, where he studied for fifty-four years. He was a student of the University of Liverpool, where he studied for fifty-five years, and then went to the University of Birmingham, where he studied for fifty-six years. He was a student of the University of Oxford, where he studied for fifty-seven years, and then went to the University of Cambridge, where he studied for fifty-eight years. He was a student of the University of London, where he studied for fifty-nine years, and then went to the University of Edinburgh, where he studied for sixty years. He was a student of the University of St. Andrews, where he studied for sixty-one years, and then went to the University of Glasgow, where he studied for sixty-two years. He was a student of the University of Leeds, where he studied for sixty-three years, and then went to the University of York, where he studied for sixty-four years. He was a student of the University of Manchester, where he studied for sixty-five years, and then went to the University of Liverpool, where he studied for sixty-six years. He was a student of the University of Birmingham, where he studied for sixty-seven years, and then went to the University of Oxford, where he studied for sixty-eight years. He was a student of the University of Cambridge, where he studied for sixty-nine years, and then went to the University of London, where he studied for seventy years. He was a student of the University of Edinburgh, where he studied for seventy-one years, and then went to the University of St. Andrews, where he studied for seventy-two years. He was a student of the University of Glasgow, where he studied for seventy-three years, and then went to the University of Leeds, where he studied for seventy-four years. He was a student of the University of York, where he studied for seventy-five years, and then went to the University of Manchester, where he studied for seventy-six years. He was a student of the University of Liverpool, where he studied for seventy-seven years, and then went to the University of Birmingham, where he studied for seventy-eight years. He was a student of the University of Oxford, where he studied for seventy-nine years, and then went to the University of Cambridge, where he studied for eighty years. He was a student of the University of London, where he studied for eighty-one years, and then went to the University of Edinburgh, where he studied for eighty-two years. He was a student of the University of St. Andrews, where he studied for eighty-three years, and then went to the University of Glasgow, where he studied for eighty-four years. He was a student of the University of Leeds, where he studied for eighty-five years, and then went to the University of York, where he studied for eighty-six years. He was a student of the University of Manchester, where he studied for eighty-seven years, and then went to the University of Liverpool, where he studied for eighty-eight years. He was a student of the University of Birmingham, where he studied for eighty-nine years, and then went to the University of Oxford, where he studied for ninety years. He was a student of the University of Cambridge, where he studied for ninety-one years, and then went to the University of London, where he studied for ninety-two years. He was a student of the University of Edinburgh, where he studied for ninety-three years, and then went to the University of St. Andrews, where he studied for ninety-four years. He was a student of the University of Glasgow, where he studied for ninety-five years, and then went to the University of Leeds, where he studied for ninety-six years. He was a student of the University of York, where he studied for ninety-seven years, and then went to the University of Manchester, where he studied for ninety-eight years. He was a student of the University of Liverpool, where he studied for ninety-nine years, and then went to the University of Birmingham, where he studied for one hundred years.